

Leave XM radio alone! XM provides up to the minute traffic and weather that no other station provides. Being able to plan my commute using accurate and timely traffic info, rather than abbreviated, inaccurate traffic info. given every 15 minutes on FM, saves me time, money, gas and improves air quality (not having to sit in traffic since I was able to take an alternate route and get off the road quicker).

Rather than focusing its efforts on restricting XM, maybe the NBA should look inward, at its own members, and ask itself why the public would rather pay $10 a month for radio, rather than opt for free radio that NBA members offer. Maybe it's because of programming quality and quantity, fewer commercials and hype, and more of what people really want to hear while in their homes or cars.
